

Where's The Party At?

A React Party Planning App

What is WTPA?

Where's The Party At is a collaborative group trip planning app. Essentially, it will allow for users to offer suggestions, take votes on various aspects of their trip, and eventually get to go on the trip they've always talked about.

Other items would include the ability to suggest/vote on things to do when there. The creator of the initial 'trip' will be able to invite others to participate. The goal would be that by using this app, a group can take the input of multiple guest and finally go on the trip they've always talked about but could never seem to plan.

Competing Apps

Triplt: Travel Planner

- Can organize all itineraries/trips, but lacks capability to collect ideas and finalize a trip.

Trip Advisor

- Can help plan locations and things to do, but does not have the ability to create a group discussion experience.
